

MATHCOUNTS®

Tennessee State Competition

(Nashville, Tennessee, March 9, 2019) -- Teams of 6th, 7th and 8th grade students from public and private middle schools, junior high schools, and homeschools across Tennessee competed in the Tennessee state-level competition of national MATHCOUNTS program on March 9, 2019, at the Tennessee Engineering Center in Nashville, TN. The Tennessee MATHCOUNTS regional and state competitions are organized and sponsored annually by the local chapters of the Tennessee Society of Professional Engineers and by the Tennessee Engineering Foundation.

A total of 20 schools and 45 students from across Tennessee, winners of their local competitions in February, competed at the state-level competition.

Students competed individually and as a team in written and fast-paced oral matches. Subjects included probability, statistics, linear algebra, and polynomials. Winners of the individual, team, and Countdown Round competitions received awards.
